Our Expertise

gamigo, a subsidiary of the media conglomerate Axel Springer AG, is a leading publisher of free-to-play Massively Multiplayer Online Games in Western Europe and North America. The company, based in Hamburg, Germany, was founded in 2001 and is thus not only one of the largest but also one of the most experienced companies in free-to-play online gaming. With a portfolio of fourteen games in seven languages to date, the company is continually expanding by adding new games in new languages and territories. Thanks to its success in the European market, gamigo is growing at an incredible pace. In 2010, a subsidiary was opened in New York that has already started service for its first games in North America. This has quickly become the company's second largest market. Recently gamigo invested in its first development studio, Hanover-based Reaktor Media, the studio behind Neocron and Black Prophecy.
